Trinity Church's Harvest Song Service by the Chair

FRUIT AND VEGETABLE GIFTS

Will Teday be Presented to the Children's Home by the Rev.

Every year since the Roy, H. H. John-stoo has been rector of the Trinity epis-copal church, the rested choir has given a harvest song service the first Sunday in October. The donations of trust and regetables received on these occasions were given to the hospitals of the city, but this year Mr. Johnston saw that there was another equally worthy charitable institution in the city, and decided Trinity church was prottily triaimed last evening in honor of the event. In front of the pulpit were great banks, of ferns and potted plants, and half-hishboun these were plates of crimson-tinted applies and purplish grapes, with baskots of vegetables. Over the stained glass windows were wreaths of yellow core, and the interior of the church was suggestive of the reaping of a great harvest. In the basement were many baskets of fruit and vegetables, no place for which could be found in the decorations of the church.

Long before 7:00 the little church was packed. The vested choir presented a well-rendered musical program. The program of the evening service was as

GRACE CHOIR FESTIVAL

It Gave Its Fourth Musical Festival Last Evening.

The fourth festival of Grace church choir was given last night to a large congregation. This choir is a vested one and consists of fifty voices under the direction of Mr. F. S. Beckett as organist and choir master. The entire service, which was choral, showed careful training. The old "Tallis" setting was used with an elaborate "Magnificat" and "Nunc Dimittes" by Field. The festival anthem was West's "Fear Not, O Land," and it was well rendered. One of the most pleasing numbers was the soprano solo in Gounad's "Gallia," which was to have been sung by Master Glen Schriver, but owing to his sickness it was rer, but owing to his sickness it was given at the list moment to Master John Calkins; also the aito solo by Master Frank Wurzburg was very well taken. It is the intention of the choir to give a festival service the first Sunday nights of each month during the winter. The rector, the Roy. J. B. Hubbs, preached the first sermon of his course for the winter on the Bible. His aubject last night was "Some Popular Mistakes About the Bible" and they were pointed out as being the idea that the Bible was given to us in a miraculous manner; given to us in a miraculous manner; that it is one book; that all the books are of equal importance; that it is easy to understand; and a disregard showed for the human element both in the writing of the books and the decision as to what books should compose the Bible.
